

SIERRA LEONE NEWSLETTER SPRING 2012

The Initiative has not only given the church the ability to support full-time pastors, but from that strength to expand the presence of the church into previously unreached areas. In the small rural border town of Gendema (so small that it doesn't even exist on maps), we visited a new church start (a mission). There had never before been a Christian presence in this area. It was a completely Muslim community.

In the last year the Annual Conference established a church and the first grade of a secondary school. There is no other secondary school in this area, and so the United Methodist Church is able to invite people to know Christ as they provide for an educational need in the community. After the war the United Methodist Church had a presence in 8 of the 12 districts of the country. In the last 3 years the church has been able to extend their reach and influence to every district in the country. This would never have been possible without the pastoral support of the Initiative.

As I return from Sierra Leone I am excited about having met our partner church and I am hopeful that over the next several years, through more visits, we will be able to develop a life-giving partnership with them. One of the things that I came away with, though, is that even if nothing comes of the relationship with our partner church, our participation in the Initiative to support the salaries of pastors is more than worth our support. In fact, I can say that it is one of the line items on our missions giving budget that is most clearly fulfilling our mission to make more disciples and transform the world in partnership with the church of Sierra Leone. Never again will I have the question 'is our commitment to the Initiative making a difference?'

"Even if nothing comes of the relationship with our partner church, our participation in the Initiative to support the salaries of pastors is more than worth our support."

Following Rev. Waybright's presentation on his return someone said, "We have to do something for the church and the school there" The repair of a well was the first thing that grabbed people's hearts, with a decision to do a special offering throughout the Sunday's in Lent with the goal of getting the well working for the school and doing necessary security improvements for the parsonage so that Rev. Kamara would feel safe in her home. With a worshipping congregation of 150 they collected over $2800 the first Sunday! Praise God!

From the United States Department of State African Affairs, January 12, 2012 report:

Area: 71,740 sq. km. (29,925 sq. mi.); slightly smaller than South Carolina. Capital--Freetown
Population (2010): 5.848 million. Health: Life expectancy at birth (2010)--48 years
Natural resources: Diamonds, titanium ore (rutile), bauxite, gold, iron ore, ilmenorutile, platinum, chromite, manganese, cassiterite, molybdenite, as well as forests, abundant fresh water, and rich offshore fishing grounds.
Trade (2010): Exports--$341.2 million: diamonds, rutile, bauxite, coffee, cocoa, fish.
People: The population includes 20 African ethnic groups. The Temne in the north and the Mende in the south are the largest. About 2% of the population are Krio, the descendants of freed slaves who returned to Sierra Leone from Great Britain and North America and from slave ships captured on the high seas. In addition, about 4,000 Lebanese, 500 Indians, and 2,000 Europeans reside in the country.
In 2010, the United States exported almost $56.5 million of goods (transportation equipment, agricultural products, machinery, chemicals) to Sierra Leone and imported over $29 million in goods (minerals, metals, machinery, agricultural products).
In fiscal year 2011, total U.S. bilateral aid to Sierra Leone in all categories was $19.4 million. U.S. assistance focused on the consolidation of peace, democracy and human rights, health education, particularly combating HIV/AIDS, and human resources development. The United States is the largest single donor to the Special Court for Sierra Leone.

This was my first trip to Sierra Leone. Our church has been part of the Sierra Leone Initiative since 2007. Sitting in mission's team meetings, we often asked the question, 'Is our commitment to the Initiative making a difference?'. For a smaller sized church the $1200/year is not an insignificant commitment. It had been difficult to establish communication with our partner church, and we just weren't sure what to do. We decided that I needed to go to understand what it was all about. What I found in Sierra Leone convinced me that this initiative is making an incredible impact for the church in Sierra Leone and for the country as a whole.

Bishop John Yambasu of the Sierra Leone Annual Conference sat down to share his perspective. He said that never in his work in the United Methodist Church had he seen a partnership between Conferences that had such a transformational impact. Because the people of Sierra Leone have so little, as they work to rebuild their lives, their economy, and their country from the devastating impact of the civil war, the people of the church's did not have enough income to pay their pastors. In particular this had an impact on the rural areas of the country. Pastors refused to serve churches outside of the large cities in the country where the people could provide a meager salary. They knew that if they went to lead a church in the rural areas that they would, in effect, be taking an assignment where they would have to see their family go hungry on a regular basis and be unable to pay for their children's education.

"This initiative is making an incredible impact."

Bishop Yambasu shared that the initiative has completely changed this. He is now able to send pastors to any part of the country because he can guarantee that they will at least have a salary that allows their families to eat each day.

Other people who I asked about the impact of the initiative gave very similar answers. A District Superintendent, Rev. Mariame Bockarie, remarked that what she saw was a marked difference in the physical, emotional, and spiritual vigor of the pastors. Before the initiative she shared that the pastors very often looked beat-down and undernourished. Now they have more energy, life, and stamina to lead their families, their churches, and their communities. I was humbled by pastors who only ask that they have enough to feed and educate their families in order to serve the gospel.

One of the more dynamic pastors we met in our travels was a District Superintendent in a southern district. He has a University degree in agriculture and in theology, and had been working for the government's department of agriculture at a salary of $400/month. The Bishop came and asked him to serve in full-time ministry and he answered the call. This meant for him that he had to take a salary reduction to $100/month. This is a huge pay cut, and he was doing it for the sake of the Gospel. What I realized as we talked is that, without the support of the initiative, he would probably have only been able to receive an income of about $50/month, the cost of a bag of rice. Here was a gifted pastoral leader who was willing to follow the call at great personal sacrifice, but without the initiative, the cost may have been too great.

I have to admit that I had always been a skeptic when it came to the church. I grew up attending Sunday school for a while and always believed in God but never really “bought in” to the institution of the church. Even more difficult to admit is the fact that I never before saw the advantage of missionaries.

During my very first (but definitely not last) mission trip to Sierra Leone (January 21-February 3, 2012) in the midst of one of the poorest countries in the world I saw so many beautiful people with open hearts and loving eyes. Those images will stay with me forever. I believe that they will, quite literally, be the catalyst for the change in my life. But, through all the memories, the one that changed me as a person was one moment in the village of Gendema.

Students collecting water at school

I was blessed enough to attend a ceremony of sorts with some very prominent leaders in Gendema; a small village on the Liberian border. There were so many speakers that day that I do not even know for certain who said it; but someone was speaking about Bishop John. They were explaining that for the last couple years they have heard Bishop John speak of the “Initiative” and the wonderful things that the United Methodist church was doing for their country. The tone of his words was one that was all too familiar to me...skeptical. As he continued to speak I could actually FEEL his voice change and I just knew that, at any moment, something big was going to happen. He went on to express how grateful they were to have us there and how excited they are to have a sister church willing to send a missionary to help them continue to build a life with God. By now all of the skepticism was gone and he was simply humbled by the fact that we had made the journey to their village, which was not an easy place to get to. They had finally seen what Bishop John was saying. He ended this speech with 3 words...NOW WE BELIEVE. That day, in that place with those people those 3 words changed me forever. It took everything in my power to not stand up and scream... SO DO I.

The burden of poverty isn't just that you don't always have the things you need, it's the feeling of being embarrassed every day of your life, and you'd do anything to lift that burden.

Jay Z.

The poverty of our century is unlike that of any other. It is not, as poverty was before, the result of natural scarcity, but of a set of priorities imposed upon the rest of the world by the rich.

Shipping Guidelines

- Do Not send packages directly to your partner church – send them through the Sierra Leone Initiative whenever it has funds to ship a container
- When shipping boxes, usually done from Mission Central, please include shipping funds; it costs $8,000 to $9,000 to ship a 40 foot container. Boxes go to Mission Central. Send shipping funds to the Conference Office labeled SLI-Adv. Sp. 63643–shipping.
- Label boxes on all 4 sides with the name of your partner church and Sierra Leone Initiative. Attach a list of contents. Pack boxes solidly for stacking on pallets.
- Do Not label boxes/packages to individuals; this creates problems and fines at the customs/dock, possibly endangering the entire container in Sierra Leone!

Hunger, a Cause of Poverty

The Team, consisting of Sara Herrick, Pastor Dave Biser, Ken Mengel and I left on Sunday, January 22 for Sierra Leone and returned to Harrisburg on Friday, February 3.

It turns out it wasn't easy getting to Sierra Leone. For a variety of reasons, our flight from Dulles Airport was delayed for seven hours, so we missed our connecting flight in Brussels to Sierra Leone.

In order to get the next plane to Sierra Leone, we had to spend two extra nights in Brussels, then fly to London and catch a flight from there to Sierra Leone. While spending time in Brussels is not a bad thing in itself, we feared losing two days off our trip would severely hamper our schedule.

After landing at Lungi airport in Sierra Leone, we were able to make our way by ferry to Freetown, the capital city, where we spent our first night. From there, we traveled to the city of Makeni, a provincial capital, where we would stay at the M-J Motel. The village of Mableh, where our sister church is located, is about seven miles from Makeni.

Despite having two less days to work with, with God's help, the Mission Team was able to accomplish the vast majority of what it set out to do.

Much of the Team's efforts were focused on preparing for the construction of a new church in Mableh. Meetings were held with the UMC District Superintendent, the District Lay Leader/Village Elder and the Region's Paramount Chief to inform them of our plans. Additionally, we had an opportunity to meet briefly with the UMC Bishop in Freetown. In all these meetings, we received overwhelming support for the new church and many thanks for our efforts in Mableh.

Ground breaking ceremony for new Church

UMC Primary School

Pastor Dave gave the sermon at Sunday's service in Mableh, where the plans for the new church were received with great enthusiasm by the congregation. Additionally, Pastor Dave challenged the congregation to assist with their own time and labor, to which they responded with an overwhelming show of support.

The Mission Team spent the several days either in Makeni or Mableh working on a variety of projects. Among these were:

- Meeting with Primary School Head Mistress and Secondary School Principal to work out plans for providing four annual scholarships to Mableh primary school graduates
- Meeting with church/village elders concerning cassava food processor
- Purchasing a motorcycle for church/primary school usage (will help transport primary school teachers to and from work)
- Purchasing school supplies for Mableh primary school
- Delivering medical supplies from US to Mableh clinic
- Buying blood pressure cuff and stethoscope for clinic
- Buying battery powered lanterns for church
- Buying and distributing children's underwear to village

Team members at Panguma UMC

Members of Camp Hill UMC were able to visit their sister church in November. The photo below has an interesting story...we are standing in front of the Panguma Secondary School dressed in our "chief's" shirts and hats. These clothing articles were made at the school, using sewing machines we had previously purchased and gave to the school. The clothing was presented to us as a thank you gift, acknowledging the 10 computers and generator we were preparing to install at the school, later that week. After some initial start-up issues, we got 8 out of 10 computers up and running...the looks on the faces of the students to see those machines operating is a sight I will not soon forget...to God be the Glory!

My mission trip was an "experience" that I will never forget! I feel so "connected" with my brothers and sisters there in Sierra Leone that I long to do more to help them. I felt so many emotions during that trip that words really can't describe them all. I was sad for a situation that appeared to need so much help. I was enlightened by the work that has been done by the UMC!

In practically every town along the way, I saw a UMC school and church (even though some were in desperate need of repair). I was inspired by a people whose faith was stronger than anything I have ever experienced before – as their faith seems to be tested every day through hunger, the need for shelter and other basic necessities that we in the western world take for granted ("clean" running water and electricity).

I was anxious to begin work on the African Children's Choir to provide a "hand up" to people who are anxious to succeed. I was moved by the dedication and hard work of the pastors at our sister churches. I felt happy to laugh and joke with my two ambassadors (Syl & Henry) and my Captain Santos! I was ashamed when I thought of all the "waste" I have seen in our country as we throw out more food in one day than the entire country of Sierra Leone probably consumes in a month.

I am convinced that God wants us to help them "no matter what it takes" since Christianity knows "no borders". We are truly a world community and Sierra Leone is just one of our many neighbors who God has instructed us to help. I will be going back in the future (the Lord God willing) to be reunited with my brothers and sisters in Christ. May Godspeed our work . . .

Think about it: Every educated person is not rich, but almost every educated person has a job and a way out of poverty. So education is a fundamental solution to poverty.

Historic Ties of the Sierra Leone Initiative

The Sierra Leone Initiative of the Susquehanna Conference is one component of local United Methodist efforts in that country that go back over 150 years. The United Brethren Church was the most active of our predecessor denominations in sending missionaries to and establishing schools and hospitals and churches in Sierra Leone. United Brethren missionaries born and raised within the present Susquehanna Conference and/or sent out by the Pennsylvania Conference of that denomination include the persons listed below. Their home congregations/areas include such places as Boiling Springs, Carlisle, Chambersburg, Elizabethville, Grantville, Greencastle, Lykens, Marion, Mont Alto and Waynesboro. This list may not even be complete, but it indicates a strong and continuing commitment to bringing the message of Christ in word and deed to the people of Sierra Leone.

Additional Sister Congregations Needed

Sierra Leone continues to be one of the poorest nations of the world. The overwhelming effect of 10 years of war left the nation in shambles. While Sierra Leone is developing, the fact remains, it will take decades for this nation to care for infra structure, education, health and hunger issues, among a few.

Many Sierra Leonean pastors had no choice but to seek secular jobs since their congregations were unable to support them financially. Since Susquehanna Conference congregations have united in an effort to assist, many pastors are now able to work full time in ministry. Our support enables the families to provide housing, food and for some, education for their children. All of these things seem to be such a given in our society, but are not the norm in poverty stricken nations. Your participation in the Sierra Leone Initiative enables congregations to share the word of God and provide for many needs. Our giving is making a tremendous difference in Sierra Leone.

Currently there are 56 Susquehanna Conference Congregations supporting a covenant relationship. It would be wonderful if we could double this number. For some congregations, being part of the initiative has been frustrating in terms of receiving information from their congregation. We need to remind each congregation that our primary purpose for the Initiative was intended for the financial support of pastors, all other connections and work was a unexpected blessing.

It was our hope that some congregations may unite with another congregation in Sierra Leone to participate in additional mission opportunities. Some congregations have sent members, churches have been built, wells have been dug, school scholarships have been established, and some churches been repaired. While this is wonderful, the sad fact remains that many Sierra Leone congregations are dislocated from what we consider normal means of communication. Until recently there were nearly 14 years with no postal services. Only a few cities in the entire nation have electricity, unless through the use of generators. Walking is the major mode of transportation unless by chance you are living in one of several larger cities. All of these things prohibit communication but do not take away from the extreme needs found in Sierra Leone. Please consider joining this effort.
